Negroes Demand Arrest of N.Y. Policeman Who Shot Boy

NEW YORK, July 20 (UPI)—Civil rights leaders today demanded the immediate suspension and arrest on suspicion of murder of the police lieutenant who fatally shot a teen-aged youth, touching off two days of bloody, destructive rioting in Harlem, America's largest Negro community. The recommendation for action against Lieut. Thomas Gilligan was one of four placed before city officials today in an urgent city hall meeting convened to find ways to calm racial tensions in Harlem where hundreds of Negroes battled police during the week-end.

They also urged:

—The city administration come out "forthrightly" for an independent civilian review board to hear complaints of police brutality.

—That Mayor Robert F. Wagner return immediately from a vacation in Spain because of the "grave emergency."

—That a greater percentage of Negro policemen be assigned to Harlem precincts.

While the meeting convened at city hall, a 15-year-old Negro boy, whose slaying by an off-duty police last Thursday touched off the week-end of rampaging and bloodshed, was buried in a suburban cemetery.

The rioting in the ghetto community of more than 200,000—94 per cent of them Negro—confirmed dire prophesies of civil rights leaders that Harlem was in for a "long hot summer" of strife.

Police said today the two days of street battles resulted in the single death, 55 injuries serious enough to require hospital treatment, 108 arrests and damage to 37 business places.

The toll of injured included more than two dozen police.

Police Probe Safecracking At Buhl Store

BUHL, July 20—Buhl city police, county and state police are investigating a breakin today at Erb Brother's market, 115 Ninth avenue north, in which an undetermined amount of money was taken by a thirsty burgler.

Entrance was gained from the roof between about 9 p.m. Sunday and 5:15 a.m. Monday in the northwest corner of the building where a hole had been made about one and one-half feet long and one foot wide. A ladder had been used to scale the 12-foot wall and was then pulled up to the roof. The burglar walked along the attic portion of the building until he reached the office, broke another hole through the ceiling about one foot square, and then went into the store section where the safe was located.

He worked on the safe with a sledge hammer, wrecking bar and chisel, "peeling" the safe door open. Since the money was located in a steel vault bolted inside the safe, the burglar pried the vault from the safe and pulled money from the vault through bolt holes, using a metal hook.

While inside the store the burglar drank some tomato juice, half a bottle of cola and some non-fat skim milk.

He left by prying the lock off the back door of the market.

The break-in was discovered by Floyd Walden, an employe, at 5:15 a.m. Monday when he arrived to start the day's baking.

Officers said the break-in must have been a professional one. This is the second time the market has been broken into; the first time was July 4, 1962.

The store is owned and operated by Robert Erb and David Erb.

Smylie Still Plans Session on July 29

BOISE, July 20 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie, back at his desk from the Republican national convention, said today he still intends to call a special session of the Idaho legislature July 29. Smylie said it appears the four-point agenda announced earlier will be unchanged. He said a proposed constitutional amendment for creation of a state water agency is the most urgent item. The governor, in a fast-paced news conference, just 30 minutes after he returned to his desk, said he still considers the ouster of State GOP Chairman John McMurray as vice chairman of the Idaho convention delegation "unwise and injudicious" and harmful to party unity.

"The thing is to get on with a unified effort now," he said. "I don't think it would contribute much to unity to continue the dialogue. I think my feelings are quite plain."

Asked if he thought the 12-2 delegation vote to oust McMurray was aimed at embarrassing him, Smylie said, "I don't think there is much point in talking about who it embarrasses."

Smylie predicted again that presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., will carry Idaho for the Republicans. He said he hopes both Goldwater and vice presidential nominee William Miller visit Idaho, and would guess from past experience that at least one of them will.

Smylie wouldn't predict whether Goldwater will be elected, saying, "I think you have to win elections in November. Predictions in July don't seem to have a great deal of validity."

As to the statement by Goldwater that "extremism in defense of liberty is no vice," which has aroused a political storm, Smylie said:

"It seems to me a great deal more is being made of that than seems justified. The party position is pretty well spelled out on the issues in the platform."

In addition to the water plan, the special session agenda includes funds for preparation of the 1965 Girl Scout roundup site on Lake Pend Oreille, funds for a study of reapportionment, and renovation of legislative chambers.

Goldwater Not Bothered By Criticism

PHOENIX, July 20 (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater left his home state today for Washington with a brief comment on an attack made against him yesterday by an English clergyman.

When informed of statements made at St. Paul's Cathedral in London by Canon John Collins, Goldwater said, "What the English do is up to them. They've tried on occasion to tell us how to run our government. We resist their interference.

"He (Conon Collins) can't vote in this country, so I think I'm safe."

Collins, a politically active Anglican canon, called on the pope, the Archbishop of Canterbury and other church leaders to condemn Goldwater policies. He called the Arizona senator's policies "utterly repugnant to Christian consciences," an said his nomination was part of a growing resurgence of the fascist mentality" in many parts of the world.

Last Arguments Are Started in Trial for Hoffa

CHICAGO, July 20 (UPI)—The government today opened its closing argument in the marathon James R. Hoffa fraud trial, charging that the Teamsters boss had betrayed his responsibility to his union.

"Who are you going to believe?" he asked.

Idahoan Urges Open Mind for Beet Allotments

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI) —Idaho Rep. Compton I. White, Jr., urged the department of agriculture today to "keep an open mind" on the allotment of domestic sugar beet quotas.

In a letter to Secretary Orville Freeman, White said the President has pledged "there would be no limitation on the marketing of sugar produced by domestic beet growers."

White asked "prompt and favorable" reports from the department on legislation which would increase sugar beet quotas by 500,000 tons this year and a million tons for the next two years.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI) —The state department has announced that an 18-nation conference on "interim arrangements" for a commercial global communications satellite system will begin here Tuesday.

Senate Okays Appointment Over Attack

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—The senate overrode bitter opposition from Sen. Strom Thurmond, D., S. C., today to confirm former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins as director of the community relations service under the new civil rights act.

The vote was 53 to 8.

Thurmond accused Collins of having "castigated the South" and its leadership in what Thurmond called "a highly inflammatory" speech in Columbia, S. C., last December.

Thurmond told the senate that Collins ran for and served as governor of Florida as a segregationist and said he had "no respect for turncoats."

Collins resigned a $75,000-a-year post as president of the National Association of Broadcasters to accept President Johnson's nomination to head the new service.

The agency is charged with the task of helping local communities resolve differences over discriminatory practices based on race, color or national origin.

Civilians Are Slaughtered In Red Attack

SAIGON, Viet Nam, July 20 (AP) — Communist guerrillas slaughtered 40 civilians and 12 military defenders in a slashing attack today on the district capital of Cai Be, 50 miles southwest of Saigon.

Twenty-three women and children were found among the dead.

The raid followed up an attack yesterady on a military post 30 miles farther southwest in which a U.S. spokesman said the guerrillas carried off almost the entire defense force of 130 men as prisoners.

The Viet Cong 261st battalion, numbering several hundred men, swept through a barbed wire-flanked minefield into the dependents quarters of 200 local civil guardsmen at Cai Be. Burning every house to the ground, the Viet Cong slaughtered many of the families standing between them and the garrison.

Anti-Racial Move Liked By Goldwater

CHICAGO, July 20 (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater said today he would like to meet with President Johnson to work out an agrement so that their campaigning this fall would not inflame racial tensions.

The GOP presidential nominee made the statement in an impromptu news conference in an airport lounge here during a stopover on his flight back to Washington to assume his senate duties.

He has been resting since the GOP national convention in San Francisco at his home in Phoenix.

Goldwater's statement on a possible meeting with the President was prompted by a newsman who asked whether he had considered a joint appeal with Johnson which would help ease racial tensions which have erupted in various parts of the nation.

Goldwater said he thought something of the sort was "a good idea" and added: "I would welcome an opportunity to sit down with the President."

Wallace Leaves Path for All-Out Conservative Drive

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace's abandonment of an independent presidential effort invited Sen. Barry Goldwater today to pursue an all-the-way conservative drive against President Johnson. When Wallace announced yesterday he was giving up the effort to get his name on presidential ballots in 16 or more states, he removed a serious obstacle to Goldwater's chances of carrying several Southern states in the November battle with Johnson. Wallace appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

The action offered the Republican presidential nominee some possible rewards in Dixie, if he maintains his conservative course, that would have to be weighed against what he might gain elsewhere if he yielded to intra-party pressure to swing toward the middle of the road.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the vice presidential nominee, indicated he would like to see some overtures to the party's moderates and liberals in the Northern industrial states that would bring them around to active support of the national ticket.

But Miller said in response to questions that failure to get the backing of such men as Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, Hugh Scott of ePnnsylvania and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey "won't be fatal."

Goldwater said in Phoenix he thinks he will do well in New York and ePnnsylvania in November.

Miller said he favors a summit meeting of Republican leaders of all shades of opinion to canvass the prospects for the campaign and to give their advice on strategy.

Goldwater, who returns to Washington today after a week-end in Phoenix, said during the California primary campaign in June he intended to call such a session. He has not mentioned it since his nomination.

The Arizona senator said "conferences that I will have nothing to do with" will go on during the next two weeks to "plan the type of campaign we will conduct."

Asked who would attend, he replied: "The academic types, the engineer types and the political types."

Goldwater said that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had promised to campaign for him and would tell him soon how many speaking appearances "he could stand." He said he hopes Eisenhower will be able to campaign with "a half dozen to a dozen speeches."

Goldwater expressed surprise at Wallace's decision to quit his independent presidential movement but did not comment further.

Johnson Asks 13 Millions For New Act

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) — President Johnson asked congress today for 14 million dollars to implement the civil rights act.

He reminded senators and representatives that the more promptly the law is made effective, "the sooner justice will be provided to all our citizens."

Johnson, in a letter accompanying the budget request to the speaker of the house, added:

"Though some activities can and will be started immediately without additional financing, additional money is needed to support programs to increase popular understanding of the law, to provide help in coping with the problems caused by its initial impact and to increase the federal government's capacity to enforce it."

SEATTLE, July 20 (AP) — A flaming meteor, trailing colored sparks, flashed across the sky last night and was seen over a wide area from Seattle to Portland to Spokane.

The fireball caused some concern among watchers in the Puget Sound area who thought it was a plane in distress.

"It flashed a brilliant blue color in the sky," said A. L. Thompson, Seattle. "I've never seen anything like it."

Commentator Speaks to Burley Meet

BURLEY, July 20 — William Eames, CBS news commentator, was guest speaker at the noon luncheon during the second day of the three-day 14th annual convention of the Idaho Broadcasters association at the Ponderosa Inn in Burley.

Eames spoke on "New progress in politics reporting" and told about electrical computers on giving the outcome of votes and the effect it will have on the voter.

About 105 broadcasters registered Sunday. Mayor Mack Crouch spoke at the opening session with a welcome address Monday morning. Clive Hollen, president of the Burley Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Fred Anderson, chamber secretary, also gave welcome speeches.

Charles Stone, Washington, D. C., radio code vice president for the National Association of Broadcasters, urged Idaho broadcasters to support the code and said five more subscribers in Idaho would boost to 52 per cent from 40.5 per cent the number of Idahoans backing it.

J. Allen Jensen, general manager of station KID in Idaho Falls, discussed efforts to achieve a new fee contract for broadcast of American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers of Music. Jensen said, "The committee wants to reduce fees by 22 per cent while ASCAP wants to increase them by that amount."

He said the stalemate in the negotiations prompted the filing of a court suit last April 30.

Also on the opening day agenda was a panel of programming for local communities, sports, schools and news moderated by Ed Brainard of KORT, Grangeville.

Tuesday, Idaho Attorney General Allen Shepard will open the program with a discussion of Idaho law and lotteries.

Sherrill W. Taylor, Washington, D. C., vice president for radio of the National Association of Broadcasters, will speak Tuesday afternoon and Jack J. Link, Seattle, general manager of Boeing stations, operators of KIDO in Boise and other radio stations in Seattle and Portland, will speak at the Tuesday night session.

Two Brothers Believed Dead In Plane Crash

OROVADA, Nev., July 20 (UPI)—Two brothers apparently were killed when their light plane crashed in the treacherously rugged Santa Rosa mountains on a flight to Elko, the civil air patrol reported today.

The CAP identified them as pilot Kenneth McClintick, and his passenger, Carl. They left their Orovada ranch runway on Sunday afternoon and had not been heard from since.

A CAP spokesman said the wreckage of their single engine Piper super cub was sighted today by John Franaway, a CAP pilot, about eight miles southeast of here at the 7,000-foot level. He reported no sign of life.

One Way

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 20 (UPI) — The Second National Bank of New Haven sold John F. Kennedy half dollars today for 40 cents and a three day supply of the new coins was exhausted in less than three hours.

Henry P. Brightwell, vice president, said the bank was "swamped" with customers the minute the doors opened.

The offer was made to alleviate a critical shortage of pennies in the bank's routine business.

Smylie Raps Walker Over Water Issue

BOISE, July 20 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie criticized state Democratic Chairman Lloyd Walker today because he had called for more information on the governor's water amendment proposal.

Smylie reminded newsmen that Walker had turned down the governor's request to serve on the 31-man committee that drafted the amendment to allow the state to issue bonds to develop water resources.

"I expect him to find some basis of disagreement," said Smylie.

He said Walker's refusal to serve on the committee was a "grave disservice" to the state.

"It was pure partisan thinking," Smyle added. "His way was an unwise decision and not in the best interest of the people."

While Smylie attended the Republican national convention in San Francisco last week, Walker chided the governor for not releasing more information on the proposed amendment.

Demos Slate Early Action On Calendar

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) — Democratic senators mapped an ambitious legislative program in a caucus today, agreeing they will seek to push through most of President Johnson's requests prior to their party's national convention opening Aug. 24.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the party caucus agreed to hold lengthy senate sessions, including meetings on Saturdays, in an effort to wind up the present session of congress prior to the Democratic convention.

Listed for action Wednesday is the controversial 962.5 million dollar anti-poverty program which came out of the senate labor committee over opposition from Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R., Ariz.

This was before Goldwater won the GOP presidential nomination at the San Francisco convention.

The measure, a key part of President Johnson's domestic program, won 13-2 support of the labor committee with only Goldwater and Sen. John G. Tower, R., Tex., one of his backers, opposing it.

British Bet Goldwater To Be Elected

LONDON, July 20 (UPI) — One of the chief London bookmakers reported today a heavy run of betting on Sen. Barry Goldwater to win the presidential election.

"We were surprised but we think this was because we were offering very generous odds of 7-1 against," said a spokesman for the bookmakers (Ladbrooke's).

"We have dropped the odds to 4-1 against since this morning, and the betting will probably ease off now."

The spokesman said several thousand pounds were put on Goldwater today. An American made one of the largest bets, 500 pounds ($1,400), the spokesman said.

Lady From Maine Falls Into Step

DETROIT, July 20 (UPI)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R., Me., refused last night to give her unqualified personal endorsement to Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, but got in step with the Arizona senator's foreign policy attacks on the Johnson administration.

Asked if she gave her "unqualified endorsement to the Republican presidential nominee," the lady from Maine told United Press International, "I wouldn't put it that way.

"Let's say that I'm a Republican, and as such I accept the decision of the Republican majority and will support all the nominees."

Earlier, in her first public appearance since the Republican national convention, Senator Smith told an audience of about 4,000 persons that foreign policy decisions should not be delayed "until after the election for fear of losing votes."

Greeks and Turks Accept Plan of U.N.

NICOSIA, Cyprus, July 20 (AP)—Greek and Turkish Cypriot forces around the village of Temblos in north Cyprus accepted today a U.N. agreement and withdrew their forces from the area.

This averted a seven-day threat of a major flare-up, which would have involved the use of artillery for the first time since the outbreak of the island's near civil war last December.

Canadian troop reinforcements that had been rushed in to provide a buffer between the two sides also were withdrawn. A U.N. spokesman said only normal U.N. patrols were left in the area.

He said though there has been full withdrawal of Greek and Turkish forces from the environs of the Turkish-Cypriot village of Temblos, Greek Cypriot field guns still are within range.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Lower pressures aloft from the Gulf of Alaska southward along the British Columbia and Pacific states coastlines will prevail through Saturday. Westerly flow aloft with trailing portions of northern, centered Pacific storm systems will dominate the Intermountain weather. Warm and mostly dry weather is forecast for southern Idaho during the next five days.

Temperatures under this pattern will average about four degrees above normal from Magic Valley through eastern Idaho during the next five days. Temperature normals through Saturday are Gooding, 94 and 60; Twin Falls, 94 and 56, and Burley, 93 and 54. Warmest days are expected to be Tuesday and Wednesday with cooling taking place during the latter portion of the week.

Precipitation will be quite sparse over agricultural valleys this week with most of the thundershower activity held to higher mountain elevations. Extreme eastern Idaho valleys have a chance for a few widely scattered showers during mid- to the latter part of the week. Rainfall totals will range from little or none over southwestern and southcentral valleys to around .10 to .15 of an inch over extreme eastern Idaho valleys.

Sunshine will total 85 per cent of possible with surface winds averaging less than normal for the week. Some increase in winds is expected after mid-week but most early morning and evening hours will be favorable for spraying and dusting operations. Soil moisture losses will remain high this week, averaging .35 to .40 of an inch per day. Irrigation scheduling will be important this week to avoid plant moisture stress. Good haying and plant growth weather is forecast for this week. Winter barley harvesting is getting under way and winter wheat is headed in most areas. Spring wheat is turning to heading. Apricot picking will begin by the end of this week in southwestern valleys. Bean and beet crops will continue making good to excellent progress.

CURRENT SYNOPSIS

The current weather charts show warmer, more moist air streaming northward into the northern Intermountain region. Temperatures will climb today, tonight and Tuesday with afternoon readings generally in the low to mid 90's today and into the upper 90's to low 100's tomorrow. Nighttime temperatures will range from the mid to upper 40's over Camas prairie to the 50's and 60's elsewhere over agricultural valleys.

The most moist air reaching here from the Gulf of Mexico will cause humidities to run five to 10 per cent higher during afternoon hours, making currently above-normal temperatures most uncom*fortable.* Some relief is in sight as an upper level disturbance along the British Columbia coast will send impulses of cooler Pacific air across southern Canada and the northern Intermountain area around and after mid-week.

No Raise for Mortgage Rate Looms

DENVER, July 20 (UPI)—Robert Patrick, an Iowa bank officials, said today he doubted that mortgage interest rates would rise this year.

"I know that many knowledgable students of the money market look for an increase of one-quarter to one-half per cent in rates by the end of the year, but at present I can't see evidence justifying that conclusion," Patrick said.

Patrick was one of the featured speakers at the opening general session of the national mortgage banking conference being sponsored by the Mortgage Bankers Association of America. The two-day conference ends Tuesday.

Patrick is senior vice president of the Bankers Life company of Des Moines, one of the nation's largest investors in mortgage loans.

New Zealand Minister Is Welcomed

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—President Johnson extended the LBJ brand of informal hospitality to New Zealand's prime minister today.

The two men mosied around the White House back yard, picking flowers and inspecting trees.

Johnson walked from his office to the back driveway in advance of the arrival by car of Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake.

The New Zealand leader exclaimed that he was surprised to find Johnson waiting there.

The President took Holyoake by the arm and sauntered past the now-seedy putting green installed during former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration and over to a 40-foot tree.

Johnson said that this was one of two little-leaf linden trees presented to the White House in 1937 by New Zealand. He told Holyoake that Franklin D. Roosevelt had planted the trees.

The President reached up and broke off a sprig, handing it to Holyoake.

Then the two men wandered into the nearby rose garden, inspecting the summer blossoms.

Vietnamese Students Raid Embassy Area

SAIGON, Viet Nam, July 21 (Tuesday) (AP)—Vietnamese students swarmed over the tall gates of the French embassy early today, smashing their way into the embassy itself and burning a stationwagon on the embassy grounds.

But they hastily ran back to the street when three fire engines arrived with sirens screaming.

The attempt to sack the embassy was the aftermath of a 1,000-strong student torchlight parade through the main streets of Saigon at midnight to mark the end of "national day of shame" which signifies the 10th anniversary of the Geneva agreements which resulted in partition of Viet Nam.

Only a fraction of the students that noisily marched through the city participated in the attack on the French embassy.

Disability Rule in State Case Upheld

BOISE, July 20 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court today upheld the industrial accident board's finding that a former Coeur d'Alene district miner was entitled to no more than six per cent disability for an arm injury.

Richard P. Graves was injured while working in the Hope mine of the American Smelting and Refining company in 1961. He later took employment as a painter and filed a claim for permanent partial disability.

The board found that he had six per cent disability, compared to loss of an arm at the shoulder. Graves contended the award should have been higher, based on a report by his physician.

The supreme court ruled that opinions of experts are advisory only and are not binding upon the board.

Three Hurt In Car Crash Near Jerome

JEROME, July 20 — Three persons were injured when two cars and a pickup truck were involved in a collision at 7:30 p.m. Saturday two and one-half miles east of Jerome on state highway 25.

Mrs. Mahala E. Rowbottom, 57, Jerome, driving a 1959 Rambler, had stopped for oncoming traffic before making a left turn to the Jerome airport road. Donald Wayne Newcome, 40, Ephrata, Wash., driving a 1950 Mercury, stopped behind Mrs. Rowbottom. Edward D. Lucas, 35, Boise, driving a 1959 Chevrolet pickup, failed to see the stopped Newcome car and hit Newcome's car, causing the Mercury to hit the Rambler driven by Mrs. Rowbottom.

State police reported vision was poor because of dust on the road from road construction. Lucas was cited for following too closely.

The three drivers were taken to St. Benedict's hospital, Jerome, along with Mrs. Maxine Rowbottom, 24, Pocatello, passenger in the Rowbottom car. Other passengers in the Rowbottom car included James Rowbottom, 70, and James W. Rowbottom, 26.

Pilot Dies In Crash of Spray Plane

SALMON, July 20 (AP)—A Missoula, Mont., man died today when the spray plane he was piloting in a spruce-budworm control project on the Salmon national forest crashed near Salmon.

Forest service authorities said Hardy Sandvig, 40, was found by eight smokejumpers dropped to the crash site eight miles west of U. S. highway 93.

The TBM was one of eight single craft flying from the Salmon airport in the 530,000 acre project.

The plane did not burn.

Senate Gives Speedy OK To Pay Raise

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—A pay boost for most of the officers and men and women in the nation's fighting forces won speedy senate approval today.

Passage of the pay-raise bill, expected to cost 207 million dollars a year, came by voice vote after brief debate.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D., Ga., who pushed the increase through the senate in record time, said that he expected the house to pass the bill without major changes.

This could send the measure on to President Johnson in time for the fatter military pay envelopes to begin next month or in September.

Most of the increases would be a 2½ per cent hike in base pay for some 1.8 million persons in the army, navy, air force and marine corps and the smaller uniformed services, the coast guard, the U. S. public health service and the coast and geodetic survey.

British See Dangers in Race Rioting

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—British newspapers said today the violence in Harlem holds grave dangers for the United States.

One said it may carry Sen. Barry Goldwater to the White House.

"America could be on the verge of something really frightful," said the conservative Daily Sketch.

"Every flareup in Harlem, every petty punch-up between Negroes and whites that happens to rate a paragraph this summer will almost certainly mean more bitter, frightened votes for Goldwater.

"Every Sunday like yesterday, in Harlem or anywhere else, increases the possibility that Barry Goldwater will move into the White House in January."

Daily Express correspondent David English wrote from New York: "Now there is just heat and dirt, anger and fury in Harlem."

Hella Pick, New York correspondent of the Guardian, cabled that "the country's more responsible Negro leadership—is worried."

Captain Claiborn, an instructor in economics, studied for his doctorate under the air force institute-of-technology program which provides selected air force members the opportunity for resident training in scientific, engineering and other fields at civilian institutions and industrial organizations.

The captain also earned his MA degree from Princeton in 1961 under AFIT. A former student at Idaho State college, he received his BS degree in 1959 from the University of Idaho. He was commissioned there upon completion of the air force reserve officer training corps program.

He is a graduate of Kimberly high school and married the former Shirley G. Mason, daughter of Mrs. Mary Mason, Kimberly.

U.S. Marine Sentry Kills Japanese

GOTEMBA, Japan, July 20 (UPI)—A U. S. marine sentry shot and killed a middle-aged Japanese farm woman on an American military installation today and the incident immediately became a political issue.

The shooting, fourth of its kind since the sensational Girard case of seven years ago, brought quick protests from the opposition party, which urged Japanese police to "exercise their independence in determining the real truth."

The sentry was identified by the marine corps as Pfc. Manual A. Covarrubias, 22, Wapato, Wash.

Under the U. S.-Japan "status of forces" agreement, the Japanese have jurisdiction over U. S. servicemen who are off-duty and off-base. That jurisdiction is not expected to apply in this case.

Senator Church Back in Capital

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church was in Washington today after a visit to northern Idaho.

The Idaho senator attended an electric cooperative meeting at Sandpoint, inspected the Camp Farragut site of the 1965 Girl Scout Roundup and spoke at a fund-raising dinner in Coeur d'Alene for Democratic Cong. Compton I. White, jr.

In his Coeur d'Alene speech, Church predicted President Johnson will win the November election by the largest margin since the era of Franklin Roosevelt.

POLITICAL ADVICE is given by Rep. Charles Halleck, R., Ind., who is minority leader of the U. S. house of representatives, to Mrs. Mary Brooks, GOP candidate for state senator from Blaine county. At right is Hamer Budge, former second district congressman from Idaho who has been appointed to the securities and exchange commission after serving for several years as third district judge at Boise. The Hallecks and Budges were week-end guests of Mrs. Brooks at her summer home on the shore of Pettit lake. Halleck enjoyed Idaho's fishing during his visit. (Times-News photo)

Halleck Fishes and Relaxes Before Returning to Post in Nation's Capital

PETTIT LAKE, July 20— The minority leader of the U.S. house of representatives, Rep. Charles Halleck, R., Ind., had the time of his life here over the week-end before returning to Washington where congress reconvened today.

Halleck caught a fine mess of rainbow trout from Idaho's famed Silver creek, expertly filleted them and then hovered in the kitchen as the trout were fried at the summer home of Mrs. Mary Brooks, his hostess for the week-end.

Representative Halleck and Mrs. Halleck, together with Mr. and Mrs. Hamer Budge, Boise, were relaxing before their departure for Washington. Budge, recently appointed to the securities and exchange commission, also is leaving for Washington to assume his duties. Halleck and Budge became close friends when both served in the house of representatives.

Halleck is no newcomer to Idaho. "I went into the Primitive area years ago," he declares. He told of many trips into the wild region to hunt and fish. Mrs. Brooks' summer home on the shore of Pettit lake is located at the beginning of a trail that leads into the Primitive area and to a number of popular mountain lakes.

Representative Halleck seconded the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater at the Republican national convention in San Francisco. While here, he was questioned about the split in the GOP and asked if leaders in the East will support Goldwater financially and otherwise. "We'll get rolling," Halleck declared.

The minority leader noted his hostess, Mrs. Brooks, is a candidate for state senator from Blaine county. "She knows all the leaders in both state and national politics," Halleck pointed out in commenting that Mrs. Brooks could be of great service to her neighbors.

Mrs. Brooks, making her first bid for public office, has been active in politics for years. She is the daughter of the late Sen. John Thomas, from Idaho, and the widow of the late Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, Illinois. She's a former national committeewoman from Illinois.

Other guests of Mrs. Brooks over the week-end included Mr. and Mrs. Bud Purdy, Picabo.

3 Children Are Treated For Smallpox

COLFAX, Wash., July 20 (UPI)—A young mother, hoping for the best but fearing that her three small children may have contracted smallpox, was anxiously awaiting today the results of tests being conducted at the federal virus laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Barbara Dailey, Valsetz, Ore., described as "improved" the conditions of the three girls, Debra, 7, Diana, 5, and Delinda, 4.

Meanwhile, state health authorities, who said results of the tests were expected soon, were preparing to begin smallpox immunization in many areas of the state should test results be positive.

Mrs. Dailey said if the children did contact the disease, she believed it was on a July 4 outing on the coast.

Health authorities, who indicated there has not been a recorded case of the disease in the United States since 1952, said they were making efforts to determine persons with whom the children may have come in contact in the past few days.

Utah school teachers are meeting to decide whether they will resume contract negotiations and return to their classrooms this fall.

The members of the Utah Education association will gather at 11 regional meetings to vote on a recommendation by UEA leaders that negotiations resume on the local level.

Cooperation

DIGHTON, Mass., July 20 (AP) — The afflictions of John and Joan Pavao, 9-year-old twins, prevent them from riding bicycles — unless they go together.

John has been blind since birth.

Joan has cerebral palsy and does not have use of her legs.

Their father, Joseph Pavao, and a friend, Edward Gonsales, Somerset, rigged two bicycles side by side, attached by sturdy metal bars.

John supplies the leg power and Joan does the steering.

Heavy Tides on California Coast Are Continuing

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP)—Big waves and riptides continued their assault on California beaches for the ninth straight day.

At least four persons are believed to have drowned in the heavy surf.

Lifeguards rescued 335 swimmers as an estimated one million persons swarmed to the beaches yesterday.

Red danger flags snapped in the breeze and lifeguards shouted warning at swimmers through loudspeakers.

Weathermen say the big waves might be caused by two tropical storms off the Mexican coast and may continue for at least two more days.

Comsat Profit Is Expected by '68

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI)—A top official of the communications satellite corporation (Comsat) predicts it will probably "get into the black" about 1968 but will not start paying dividends to stockholders before 1969.

Leo D. Welch, chairman of the board of Comsat, made the statement during an interview with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R., N.Y.

Boise Man to Be Commander Of Atomic Sub

GROTON, Conn., July 20 (UPI)—Capt. John L. From, Jr., Boise, has been appointed one of the commanders of the new superpunch Polaris submarines—the Ulysses S. Grant.

From commands the submarine's blue crew. The sub has two crews which alternate in operating the vessel for 60-day periods.

The submarine was commissioned at New Groton, Conn., and now goes to Cap Kennedy, Fla., for test firing of its projectiles.

Probe Seeking Jet Crash Cause

ALBUQUERQUE, July 20 (UPI)—Navy investigators planned today to begin sifting through the wreckage of a supersonic jet fighter to discover the cause of a crash that killed a marine reserve pilot yesterday.

Capt. Jon O. Nelson, Parkville, Mo., was killed when his F4A Skyray jet fighter crashed some nine miles southeast of Albuquerque as he approached Kirtland air force base for a landing. Kirtland is in Albuquerque.

Who Cares?

Platforms of political parties are a tradition likely to continue for many years, yet they're virtually useless from the standpoint of the average voter. Politicians spend hours working up the planks in a platform. The result is idealistic, high-sounding—and quite meaningless. Even delegates to political conventions have a difficult time concentrating on thousands of words supposed to outline party philosophy and designed to capture votes.

All party platforms promise the best in government; they promise to eliminate waste; balanced budgets are pledged. In short, party platforms are for motherhood and against sin, the motherhood being the party's current philosophies and promises and the sin being all the failures of the opposing party.

At best, the platforms are a waste of time. Scarcely anyone is convinced and by the time the election rolls around, what voter can recall what was specified in the platform.

Even if voters were to remember party platforms in all their long detail, it's doubtful if there'd be much influence on voting. Long-winded statements of policy do not win votes. Practically everything about the individual candidate can be a factor, but not the party's platform. For example, the last presidential election was decided by such factors as how Richard Nixon looked on the television screen, the famous debates between Nixon and John F. Kennedy and the latter's easy style and ready wit.

There's a suspicion that many voters are swayed by how a candidate says something more than by what he says. And how many times in any election has a woman declared she will vote for one particular candidate "because he's cute?"

Party platforms always have to take a back seat to personalities when the voter marks his ballot in the privacy of the voting booth. Those personalities might include ones not involved in the actual election, such as a Bernard Goldfine, a Sherman Adams or a Bobby Baker.

Economic conditions also mean much more than platforms. There is no disputing the fact that voters vote their pocketbooks. Conditions of war or peace also have a much greater bearing on elections, and in times of war, voters are loath to "change horses in the middle of the stream."

Only days have passed since the Republican party adopted its 1964 platform in San Francisco, yet how many voters know what the platform says. By the same token, little more than a month has passed since Idaho's Republicans and Democrats built platforms or general statements of policy. What Idahoan can recall the details of the state platforms?

Elections are determined more by the individual candidates, their personalities and circumstances of all nature accompanying the election. Even then, candidates who are elected to office have a way of forgetting what they said in the heat of campaigning. If reminded, they are likely to pass it off as "election promises," which suggests no one ever intends to fulfill such promises anyway. In that respect, they're just like party platforms.

TIED BY LAW

A ruling by the Idaho attorney general's office serves to call attention to the rather strict laws governing operation of school districts. The ruling in question specifies that a school teacher cannot be paid if the teacher's wife or husband is a member of the district's board of trustees. Perhaps the reasoning behind the law is excellent, but in actual practice the school district could be deprived of the needed services of an excellent teacher.

Many of Idaho's laws governing school operation sometimes appear unduly restrictive. Such laws may be necessary or they may have been deemed necessary at the time of passage and be obsolete now.

For example, a leading businessman may feel it's his duty to serve on a school board. But his membership on the board could hurt his business by barring him from transacting business with the school district.

By the same token, the businessman could be in a position benefitting the schools, perhaps through some special arrangement for use of the products he handles. Yet school law might prevent the district from taking advantage of the opportunity, simply because the businessman was a school trustee.

There are signs that some of the obsolete or unduly restrictive laws are in the process of being changed. For instance, it's now legal to invest idle school funds in U. S. treasury notes, thereby gaining interest which benefits the district. And in recent years, legislation has permitted school districts to levy taxes in anticipation of future plant expansion needs.

It's easy for laws to be unduly restrictive.

WASHINGTON, July 20—There is something almost incredible in relations these days between the Soviet Union and its once humble satellite, Rumania. It almost seems as if the Rumanians are doing their best to get Moscow mad.

State department types are delighted with the situation, while refusing to buy any suggestion of a political break between Rumania and the Soviet Union. But recent events have punctured the myth of a monolithic Soviet bloc owned and operated by the Kremlin.

The events have given American diplomats special pleasure. One was the signing of a new, expanded trade treaty between Rumania and Communist China. The other was the audacity of Rumania's leaders in challenging Russia's post-war annexation of the former Rumanian province of Bessarabia.

BESSARABIA POLITICAL QUESTION — The trade deal with Red China, of course, is another step in Rumania's move towards more commercial independence, and it is a blow at the Kremlin's efforts to isolate the Chinese. But bringing up the Bessarabian question was a political action. It was a satellite daring to question Russia's right to regard its satellites as a clutch of farm clubs from which it can pluck at will any territory or privilege it covets. Under Joe Stalin, that kind of impudence would have cost a man his head.

As the first known case of a satellite challenging the Stalinist annexations in Eastern Europe, Rumania's action illuminates the Kremlin's weakening grasp on its captive allies. Bessarabia's absorption into the Soviet Union was meekly endorsed by the post-war communist regime in Rumania, and the matter had been believed closed. Even if nothing comes of Rumania's belated challenge, it remains an indication of how times have changed.

For that matter, Rumania has not asked outright for the return of the province. But it has suggested to the Kremlin that the question of the annexation be reopened, and it has inquired as to the fate of the one million Rumanians living there.

The Soviet Union annexed Bessarabia in 1945, after the liberation of Rumania by the red army. The province is about the size of New Jersey and New Hampshire combined and has a population of three million. It was one parcel of the 182,400 square miles of Eastern European territory annexed by Russia between 1940 and 1945.

RUMANIA'S ECONOMY GAINS — Meanwhile, the trade pact with Red China will further bolster Rumania's burgeoning economy, which is being rapidly industrialized against the wishes of the Kremlin. Rumanian spokesmen have said that the treaty assures that the nation will become a fully industrialized nation by 1970. Russia, of course, wanted Rumania to stick to an agricultural economy and thus provide the bloc with a breadbasket.

Perhaps more important, the act strengthens Peking at a time when its ideological warfare with Moscow is at its hottest. Among other items, the Red Chinese will get more oil from Rumania to make up for the drastic cuts in imports of Soviet oil; this, in effect, is Rumania showing displeasure over the Kremlin's blow at Peking. And Khrushchev and company must have winced at that part of the communique which noted that the trade talks in Bucharest were held "in an atmosphere of friendship and mutual understanding."

Views of Others

WHO'S THE VILLIAN?

Back in the great depression when the grocery bill was a major topic in every family budget session, there was a widespread belief food costs could be cut considerably if somehow we could "eliminate the middleman."

Now in these generally prosperous times we are hearing some of the same talk, except that the unrest presently is settled among the nation's food producers rather than the grocer's customers. Small wonder, too, when a recent congressional study showed that retail food prices have increased 20 per cent in the past 16 years, while prices received by the farmers have dropped 12 per cent in the same period. Obviously the percentage of the food dollar being absorbed by the processing-packaging-shipping phases of the farm-to-market cycle has increased hugely in the years since 1948. The Oregon cattleman who can't sell his steers for enough to earn back the cost of feeding them over the winter is understandably unhappy when he sees the housewife still paying top prices for her Sunday roasts.

But pointing an accusing finger at the "middleman" on the basis of these simple statistics probably is unfair, and most certainly futile. The food processing industry actually is highly competitive and efficient, as is evidenced by another statistical fact that food purchases take a much smaller share of the family income than they used to. Fifteen years ago food cost 26 per cent of the average paycheck; now it's 19 per cent.

In any case, before we can apprehend the villian, we must identify him. This is the purpose of the proposal now before congress to establish a national commission on food marketing to conduct a one-or two-year study of the food industry from the farm to the grocery store shelf. That no link in the chain regards itself as guilty of any gouging can be deduced from the fact that many processing and retailing industries have joined all major farm organizations in urging the making of such a study. If there is a solution to the distressing situation food producers presently face, this is the way to begin looking for it.—The Oregonian.

SO MUCH FOR VOTE PROFILES

We hope that CBS in particular, and the television networks in general, will learn an elementary lesson on election coverage from their experience in the California primary.

CBS "declared" Senator Goldwater the winner 23 minutes after the polls had closed in Southern California and nearly an hour before the votes had even begun to be counted in the San Francisco area. The network gambled heavily on returns from a so-called "vote profile," meaning a sample of 42 allegedly model precincts. Because those precincts went for Goldwater, CBS announced that California had gone for Goldwater by 53 per cent.

The electronic experts did a deal of sweating during the night as Goldwater's early lead steadily dwindled, and at one moment betrayed a nervous fear that their profile might turn out to be a portrait of disaster. Now that Goldwater is the winner they will no doubt claim they were right after all, but they will be wiser if they secretly admit they were wrong and resolve to pay more attention to actual votes than to electronic forecasts.

It takes no computer to make a projection of an election result on the basis of partial returns. But experienced reporters know that projections or forecasts from sample precincts whether electronic or otherwise, must be regarded as highly tentative, and that they become almost worthless in a very close election. The responsible reporter never claims to have discovered the result of an election on the basis of partial returns which can be reversed; he only points out what the partial returns suggest might be the ultimate result, and is careful to avoid "declaring" a winner until that result is documented by actual votes. NBC should be congratulated for exercising such restraint Wednesday night.

CBS made itself look silly by gearing all its Wednesday night coverage to the assumption that the election had been decided, when in fact it remained undecided until the next morning. That was grossly inaccurate reporting, and nothing else.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

HE-MAN CLOCKS

Pot Shot:

Those modern alarm clocks are disappointing. They look nice and they keep time as well as need be, but they just don't do the job when it comes to getting a person out of bed.

They tinkle at you. That's right, they just tinkle enough to arouse you far enough to make you enjoy being drowsy and back to sleep you go. The clock just runs down.

What the country needs is a real he-man of an alarm clock that bangs a guy into being wide awake and then literally hauls him out of bed. We need alarm clocks with enough character to dissipate all thoughts of sleep. When it gets through shouting at you, you're only too happy to get dressed and get out of the place so you won't have to look at the clock again.

You see, I was late for work again.

ALWAYS POPULAR

Dear Pot Shots:

I still have some pleasant thoughts of childhood days spent in trees. All the kids used to climb around in trees, but we were luckier than most. We had an indulgent father who spent hours he could have used to better advantage building us a house up in a big tree.

It was the place where we took refuge. It was a lookout. Our tree house was a fort; it was an eagle's nest; it was everything that could crop up in the fertile imaginations of a bunch of kids.

Then the other day I was walking along and happened to glance up and there was another tree house. I thought tree houses had been forgotten, but I guess today's children are no different than years ago. They still like to climb right out of drudging reality.

GOTTA BE ORIGINAL

Some of you good constituents keep sending poems with requests that they be printed in this corner. Only trouble is that someone else besides the reader was responsible for composing those poems in the first place.

So far, Pot Shots has been fairly lucky in spotting the sleepers, but it's been pure luck.

It would help if readers who feel the urge to compose poetry would sign their names and tell whether it's original or copied from someplace. Of course, it's quite obvious that many of the contributions are original.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Washington News

BY LYLE WILSON
(United Press International)

Lyle C. Wilson

The break in the Republican party front between dejected liberals and triumphant conservatives has been papered over, a temporary job for appearances sake more than for anything else.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania did what he was expected to do and he did it well. He delivered to the Republican national convention a rousing unity speech endorsing Sen. Barry M. Goldwater as the presidential candidate of a united Republican party.

The catch is that the Republican party is not united now nor is it likely to be soon. The eastern liberal establishment long has controlled the Republican party, chosen its nominees and dictated its platforms. These liberals are out. Their Scranton-for-president campaign never got off the ground. The liberal leaders of the Republican party from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower down to the least of them proved themselves in the clutch to be helpless amateurs.

They were unable to devise or to execute effective pre-convention or convention strategy. As a group they have been humiliated by an upstart politician whom many of them regard as almost illiterate, a trigger-happy cowboy. Some of the news pundits and one-time political bosses who comprised the Republican establishment have reacted as though the national convention had nominated for president public enemy No. 1 to run on a platform committed to piracy and other international crimes.

It is likely that never since Thomas E. Dewey struck out in 1948 against Harry S. Truman have so many big shot Republicans been so unhappy, sorry for themselves and thinking of revenge. They may think better of revenge before they achieve any. There was a zip and go, a freshness of environment and a wholesome enthusiasm in the convention hall when Goldwater was finally nominated that seemed to suggest that this upstart senator may not be, after all, merely a sacrificial lamb.

Faintly beginning to be heard in convention precincts on the morning after — very faintly, it is true — was the speculative question:

"Do you suppose it is possible that this fella' might win; possible that once more at long last the Republicans have a winner?"

On top of that question inevitably appear others: Could it be that there is a new trend of thinking among the people that the pollsters have missed? Could Goldwater have struck his pick into a golden vein of popular thinking that somehow has alluded all other political pros?

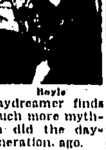
These questions arise because of the lopsided nature of Goldwater's triumph in San Francisco. He did not squeak through. He was in command throughout of a disciplined army of delegates in committees and in the convention itself. These dedicated delegates evidently believed absolutely in the justness of their cause and the greatness of their candidate.

There is no evidence that Goldwater has been winning so far by default. There was no evidence, either, that Goldwater had bought delegates or seized them by intimidation as was charged in Scranton's still incredible letter to the senator challenging him to debate

Neither can the liberals put up much instant proof of another campaign item used against Goldwater. This was that he can't win. The liberals licked Taft with Ike in 1952 by a combination of the maneuvers used this time against Goldwater. This time they goofed.

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE



Boyle

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a pavement Plato:

The price of dreaming is going up, up, up! It costs much more to dream now than it used to.

Inflation, that bane of our workaway life, has now also invaded the world of the imagination in which, through fantasy, we achieve all our goals.

To get what he wants from his dreams, a daydreamer finds he must spend much more mythical money than did the daydreamer of a generation ago.

This is true of both kids and adults.

As a child, I dreamed of finding a nickel, a dime or—in a really expansive mood—a quarter. To dream of finding a quarter was to spend a wild afternoon in Valhalla.

That gigantic sum would buy five big sticks of penny licorice, a nickel ice cream cone, a nickel sack of popcorn, and a dime ticket to the Saturday afternoon movie.

To a modern child, being actually given a quarter is hardly a dream situation. It wouldn't get him very far. To spend a delirious afternoon (such as I dreamed of in childhood he'd have to have well over a dollar.

Grownup dreams are getting even more high-priced. This doesn't bother some people. They are spendthrift dreamers. They are printing-press-money dreamers. Whatever they dream they'd like to have or do, they dream up the money to buy it—and never mind the cost.

For years my dream goal was to live like a millionaire.

To do this I figured I'd have a small steam yacht for world travel, a penthouse on Park avenue, a well-staffed mansion in the country, a racing stable, a hideaway villa on the French Riviera, a couple of limousines, a few racing cars.

Naturally, there'd be a dozen or so servants around. A man can get awfully tired of opening his own champagne bottles day after day.

Well, it was a lovely dream and it kept me happy for years. But now it is smashed to smithereens. I made the mistake of confiding my dream to a friend who is expert in tax and financial matters.

"How much money do you think it would take you to live the way you think a millionaire lives?" he asked.

"Why, a million dollars," I replied.

He laughed. "You must be kidding. Anybody with only a million dollars who tried to live like that would wind up panhandling on the Bowery in less than six months."

"You'll have to upgrade your dreams. What you need is 25 million to 50 million dollars and even then you might have to cut down on your racing stable, and keep your yacht in drydock part of the year."

He left me crushed. Who at my age wants to have to suddenly boost his dream fortune from a million dollars to 25 million or so? It is hard to do. It isn't worth it.

Somebody is always taking the fun out of life. And inflation is taking a lot of the fun out of dreaming. A fellow can hardly afford it anymore.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Henry J. Taylor

LOS ANGELES July 20— Traditional Nixon top-men give an untold explanation of the Cleveland governors' conference debacle that affected this possible nominee like the wartime description of Italy's navy: "Here today; sunk tomorrow."

Looking toward the Republican national convention choice, they agree Nixon had it made without lifting a hand if Sen. Barry Goldwater couldn't make it. They also know the established view is that Richard Nixon cut his own throat in Cleveland. Thus the prime 1964 political mystery is how such an experienced man could suddenly go there and commit self-destruction.

Challenging this thesis, here is the counterclaim presented:

The four key days are June 3 and June 7, 8 and 9. Party-powerful Ohio Gov. James Rhodes was the force that pulled Nixon to the ill-fated meeting, doing so by telephone to New York on June 3. Nixon consulted Leonard Hall, his 1960 campaign manager and confidant, and Hall has told me he very strongly urged Nixon not to go. Nixon cited to Rhodes conflicting fund-raising engagements in Michigan and Baltimore but agreed to at least attend a Republican governors' breakfast Tuesday, June 9.

As early as Sunday morning, June 7, Gov. George Romney had said he was ready to issue a strong anti-Goldwater statement of his own. Except for William Scranton, who remained neutral, the governors urged Romney to wait. But Romney released his views to the press and returned to Lansing.

That night Scranton asked Rhodes and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to meet him privately to decide on a candidate to stop Goldwater. It was Scranton, not Nixon, who chose Romney. In fact, a June 14 Associated Press dispatch quotes the Pennsylvanian, "My hope then was that we could build someone else and it was I who suggested to Governor Rockefeller and Governor Rhodes that we get ahold of Governor Romney who had returned to Lansing."

Rhodes telephoned Romney at his Lansing home and asked him to be the anti-Goldwater candidate, promising to organize behind him. But Romney tells this writer that Rhodes, Scranton and Rockefeller were not entirely frank with him. Present in the room while Rhodes spoke on the telephone, Scranton and Rockefeller nevertheless did not appear at all in Rhodes' conversation. Romney declined to be a candidate but repeated his willingness to publicly fight for a "moderate" posture in the GOP.

Romney intercepted Nixon at the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel in Detroit the next morning, Monday, June 8, before returning to Cleveland. Nixon urged him to be a candidate. Romney declined and repeated only that he would lead a battle for a "moderate" man at San Francisco.

This is the night Nixon, along with associates Sherman Unger and Arthur Elliot and Michigan national committeeman John Martin, reached Cleveland from Muskegon. Rhodes' staff briefed Nixon on conference developments at the airport but did not tell him of Rhodes' call to Romney or Scranton's and Rockefeller's silent participation in that call.

Romney came to Nixon's Sheraton-Cleveland hotel suite before the governors' breakfast at 7 the next morning. The visit lasted only 15 minutes. Romney states Nixon again urged him to be a candidate. Romney has confirmed to me that after this Nixon meeting he asked Herbert Brownell, Thomas E. Dewey's campaign manager, and then Leonard Hall and then Ohio leader Ray Bliss to head up a united effort behind someone, not himself. He said each declined.

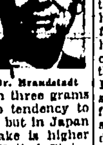
Thereafter, Romney's press secretary issued the famous statement that the Michigan governor had considered the candidacy question in seclusion, which was true, and must refuse. In short, the Rhodes-Scranton-Rockefeller anti-Goldwater proposal would be a leaderless coalition that neither Brownell nor Hall nor Bliss was willing to touch with a 10-foot pole. The rest is history, with Scranton himself finally filling the breach.

Nixon defenders insist the former vice-president did not initiate the idea of a Romney candidacy. And, even more importantly, that he did not even take part in the anti-Goldwater strategy resulting in Rhodes' call to Romney of that Sunday night, two days before Nixon even reached Cleveland.

But it is undeniable that what he did do after he got there destroyed his stance of neutrality which had been fundamental to any chance for the San Francisco nomination all along.

The Doctor Says

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.



Dr. Brandstadt

Just as you may toss salt over your shoulder for luck, you should pass up the salt shaker for health.

An adult should get about one gram of salt a day, but most of us eat nearer 10 grams a day. Doctors have long thought that an excess of salt causes high blood pressure. Recent studies now appear to support this idea.

Eskimoes of Alaska get less than three grams a day and show no tendency to high blood pressure but in Japan where the salt intake is higher even than in the United States (about 26 grams a day) the incidence of hypertension is about four times as great as it is here.

A curtailment of salt intake is now believed to be even more important than a cutting down of calories because weight reduction without salt restriction will not lower the blood pressure. There is apparently a heriditary factor at work also because some persons who regularly take in large amounts of salt do not develop high blood pressure.

The moral of this story is that, in a family in which several members have developed hypertension, the salt intake should be limited to the body's minimal needs in childhood. Waiting until your child comes of age before restricting his salt intake is likely to prove futile because it is applied too late.

Q — Our 5-year-old daughter recently had a boil. What causes boils? Can we do anything to prevent a recurrence?

A — Boils are caused by the common infection germ, the stpahylococcus. The best prevention is frequent washing of the hands by all members of the family with a soap that contains hexachlorophene. This is especially important after touching the nose or going to the toilet. It is also wise to scrub toilet seats, washbowls, and bathtubs frequently with this same antiseptic soap. Changing the underwear daily also helps. If recurrent boils develop in spite of these precautions, your doctor may want to use one of the newer antibiotics such as oxacillin, which can be taken by mouth.

Q—Since when are doctors using carbonated soft drinks to cure a baby's indigestion? Does it really help?

A—Carbonated soft drinks will often be taken by a baby or small child when other fluids are not. In situations where it is essential to get the baby to take fluids, they are of value, but there is no advantage in such carbonated drinks if the child will take sufficient fluid in other forms.

SOUTH'S DISCARD WAS IMPORTANT

The writer of a bridge book has an easier time than the writer of a column. If you don't think so, look at this hand from Fred Karpin's book on decisions at trick one.

East's queen of clubs held the first trick and South made the mistake of playing the seven spot instead of the jack. South won the heart return and cashed three top hearts. Neither suit broke, so South led his jack of clubs. West did not cover with the king and South wound up going down one trick.

Fred points out that if South had dropped his jack of clubs under East's queen, he would have had no trouble making his contract in spite of the bad suit breaks.

The lesson Fred teaches is worth-while. South surely should have thought and then dropped the jack of clubs, but South should have made the hand anyway.

After his jack of clubs held, South could simply have played ace and another diamond. If East won the trick, he would be able to take a spade and a heart, but would have to concede the last trick to dummy's ace of clubs.

If East dropped the jack on the first diamond play, West would have been able to cash three diamond tricks, but would still have had to give dummy the last club trick.

Tiny Electric Engines Get Space Okay

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va., July 20 (UPI)—The United States proved today that small electric engines — capable of developing speeds between 100,000 and 200,000 miles an hour and designed for future interplanetary flights—can work successfully in space.

The national aeronautics and space administration launched two small electric rocket engines on a flight looping some 2,500 miles aloft, on a trip of almost an hour that ended in the Atlantic 2,000 miles east of here.

During the flight one of the two ion engines operated successfully for half an hour, turning on and off several times.

The other developed a short circuit from high voltage.

Until recently many scientists have considered it impossible to start and operate an ion engine in space.

Offer of Aid To Blind Man Causes Crash

BELLEVUE, July 20—A Bellevue samaritan who stopped his car on highway 93 about three miles south of Hailey to aid a blind man was blamed for a three-car accident Saturday.

Gurwin L. Bowcutt stopped his 1956 Pontiac in the southbound lane of traffic to aid a blind man listed only as "Blind Bill."

A 1961 Ford driven by Alton E. Lane, 33, Rupert, and a 1960 Morris driven by Mrs. Gertrude Swaner, 29, Bellevue, stopped behind the Bowcutt car.

Mrs. Swaner's vehicle was struck from the rear by a 1958 Ford driven by Mrs. Eulala Wright, 36, Jerome.

The impact pushed Mrs. Swaner's car into Lane's car. After striking Lane's car, Mrs. Swaner's car slid into the northbound lane of traffic and stopped.

Mrs. Swaner and her two children, Cynthia 4½, and Christina 2½, were taken to Sun Valley hospital where they were treated for minor cuts and released.

Bowcutt, whose car was not touched in the accident, was cited for improper backing on the highway. Mrs. Wright was cited for having no driver's license.

Damage was estimated at $90 to Lane's vehicle, $1,200 to Mrs. Swaner's car and $650 to Mrs. Wright's car.

The blind man has walked between Hailey and Bellevue for many years and Bowcutt stopped to see if the man wanted any help.

Neutralist Troops Scoring in Laos

VIENTAINE, Laos, July 20 (UPI)—Neutralist troops today pressed a counter-attack against a bogged-down communist offensive in central Laos in a bid to dislodge Pathet Lao rebels from key positions and pave the way for a drive against the Plain des Jarres.

Military sources said neutralist ground and air raiders already had swept through communist-held villages around the base of the strategic Phou Kout hill area of the western edge of the plain.

Secretary of Agriculture and Family Stop at Sun Valley, See Primitive Area

SUN VALLEY, July 20 — Orville Freeman, secretary of agriculture, is completing a week's visit to Idaho here, accompanied by Mrs. Freeman and their son, Mike, and Edward P. Cliff, chief of the forest service.

The party camped for three nights at Cramer lake in the Sawtooth primitive area above Redfish lake to see at first hand the advantages and disadvantages of a Sawtooth national park in that area.

Before reaching any decision, Freeman said he would wait for the report of the joint committee of the forest service and the national park service that will be published early next year. He praised the beauty of the region, but said the subject would need further study.

Accompanied by Max Rees, chief supervisor of the Sawtooth national forest, and Ralph Cisco, forest ranger of Sawtooth valley, the party toured the primitive area by air looking at projects for water control, soil retention and timber restoration. They landed at Stanley and looked at the new camp and picnic facilities at Redfish lake and then packed into Cramer lake, where they camped and enjoyed fishing for three days. They climbed to Alpine lake for a view into the Payette drainage.

They spent Thursday and Friday nights at the Harriman cottage at Sun Valley while Freeman made further trips into the surrounding national forests with members of the forest service.

Buhl Rodeo for Youngsters Sponsored by LDS Ward

BUHL, July 20 — Thrills, spills and excitement on a smaller scale were enjoyed by contestants and spectators in the first annual Little Buckaroo rodeo here Friday and Saturday nights under sponsorship of the second ward of the Buhl LDS church.

Crowds estimated between 400 and 500 attended each evening's performance at the Clear Lakes training stables, according to Richard Kearsley, show manager.

Winners of various events receiving trophies are Curtis Carter and Steve Alshire, for the 7 through 10 age group, and Leroy Renner and Bruce Hall, 11 through 14, in pony bareback riding; Mike Morrison and David Watson, 7 through 10, and Jesse Renner and Larry Sparks, 11 through 14, calf riding. Pam Wilstine took the trophy in the calf scramble for youngsters 6 years of age and under.

Lynette Baldwin, high point winner for the two sessions, received the trophy for the clover leaf barrel race, and Danny Weaver, calf roping. Other special events included sack races for under 8 age groups with cash prizes, pig scramble, and a sack race for mothers.

Highlight of each evening's performance included a chariot race with chariots pulled by four-horse Shetland pony teams. Appearing Friday night were Reed P. Maughan, mayor of Buhl, and Dr. Garth Atwood, local chiropractor. Saturday night featured Richard Burns of the Idaho state police, and Robert Lapray, local businessman.

Clown antics were provided by Alma Morrison, assisted by Richard Kearsley. Judges for the miniature professional rodeo were Bob Juker and Jack West. Rene James was announcer and Mrs. Pauline Juker, timekeeper.

Stock for the rodeo was provided by Burnice Hunsaker of the Little Buckaroo Rodeo company, Tremonton, Utah. Special recognition for assistance went to Wayne Phillips, parking area facilities; Robert Lapray, dusing arena; local highway department and West End Fertilizer company, sprinkling the arena; and Erb Brothers market, use of a spotlight.

The Buhl second ward LDS church has signed a contract to make the Little Buckaroo rodeo an annual event here each July. Next year the ward plans to have its own arena facilities.

Khrushchev Will Attend Red Confab

WARSAW, Poland, July 20 (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev joins the leaders of Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany here Tuesday for expected new denunciations of West Germany and Communist china.

Walter Ulbricht, Antonin Novotny and Khrushchev are scheduled to fly in from Berlin, Prague and Moscow, in that order, at 15-minute intervals Tuesday morning.

Polish officials have arranged the guest list and the program to de-emphasize the Soviet-Chinese ideological split and to stress the 20th anniversary celebration of the Polish regime—plus the prime worry of Warsaw, West German rearmament.

To bring out the ceremonial aspects of the get-together and play down the political angle, they even took the unusual step of announcing a week in advance that Khrushchev and other leaders would bring their wives.

Westerners here would be surprised if there are any major developments or talks on the Chinese question beyond criticism of Peking already voiced by the leaders here. The East Germans, Czechoslovaks and Poles have publicly backed Khrushchev's plan for a world conference of communist parties to deal with Peking.

Cadillac
YOU MAY BE LOSING MONEY BY PAYING LESS
There are many cars that cost almost as much as a Cadillac. But it is a matter of fact that the decision to buy one of them could be a false economy.
Consider the major items included in the basic price of a Cadillac that are usually extra on other cars: automatic transmission, high-performance engine, power steering, power brakes, automatic cornering lights, and power windows on most models.
Then think of what a new Cadillac can save you on operation and maintenance. Cadillac is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in gasoline efficiency—and it is so soundly built that it has reduced upkeep expense to the practical minimum.
You're ahead again—every mile you drive.
Finally, reflect on Cadillac's historically high trade-in value. No car at or near its price preserves so much of its owner's original investment through the years.
So add it all up. You'll see what most owners mean when they say you don't spend more for a Cadillac. You just invest a little more—and get a lot more back.
If a Cadillac has long been in your plans, visit your dealer and get all the dollars-and-cents facts.

The train was moving slowly when the accident occurred, the spokesman said. He said the engineer, L. F. Johnson, Pocatello, told him he was well under the 20-mile-per-hour speed limit in the area.

U.S. Slates More, Better Spy Satellites

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla., July 20 (AP) — Atomic energy commission scientists plan more sophisticated nuclear detection satellites to follow a pair maneuvered into patrol positions 66,000 miles above Earth over the week-end.

Sentry Satellite No. 2 was jockeyed into position Sunday when a radio signal from the ground shifted it out of a great elliptical orbit onto a circular path in which the high and low points are about the same.

A companion satellite was fired into a similar orbit Friday night. The twin watchdogs are traveling about 100,000 miles apart as they scan more than 300 million miles of space in search of illicit nuclear explosions.

The sentries are forerunners of a network of operational stations intended to police the limited nuclear test ban treaty. The treaty, signed last year by more than 100 nations, forbids nuclear testing in the atmosphere, under water and in space.

Stock Market and Financial Report

Stocks

NEW YORK, July 20 (UPI) — The stock market closed lower today, falling from the historic high set Friday.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.5 million shares compared with 4.07 million Friday.

After a mixed opening, prices shaded lower and then held steady. The market had closed at a historic peak Friday on the strength of a six-week advance.

Despite the slightly lower tone, most Wall Street analysts still believed the upswing would continue. No one could cite any major stumbling blocks in the path of a further rise.

Steels and motors lagged. Oils, rails and building materials inched upward while chemicals, utilities, aircrafts and airlines were irregular.

U.S. Steel was off more than one-half and Bethlehem was about unchanged.

Among the motors, GM, Ford and Chrysler were all off fractions. American Motors was unchanged and Studebaker was up a little.

Universal Oil Products gained nearly 1½.

Pennsylvania Railroad was up a major fraction. Bell and Howell was off a small fraction after it was disclosed the company will make cameras for Polaroid. Polaroid also was down a bit.

IBM gave up more than 3 and Eastman Kodak was off nearly 3. United Airlines and Occidental Petroleum each dropped almost 1½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderate trading.

Bond prices were steady.

Grain

CHICAGO, July 20 (UPI)—Wheat led other grain futures into a slump as most cereal futures closed weak to heavy Monday while soybeans closed easy to heavy on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was down ⅜ to 1⅛; corn down ⅛ to 1; oats down ⅝ to 1; rye down ¼ to 1; and soybeans down ¼ to 1⅜.

The wheat market was weakened by hedge selling after an early rally. Some milling demand developed on the recession and there was further commission house buying.

The Daily Investor

BY WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Doyle

Q. I am convinced that the best investment decision I ever made was when I did not buy stock in the world's worst railroad. That was a few years ago, when the old Erie and the old Delaware, Lackawanna and Western were merged into one amid much propaganda about the outlook for the future. What a laugh that turned out to be.

Nevertheless, I'm curious. Why isn't the stock of this bankrupt line thrown off the New York Stock Exchange?

A. Your bitterness suggests that you are a commuter on that railroad. If that's the case, you probably join in the following lament.

"Oh, the Erie is a railroad, no matter what they say.
"The trains that come in tomorrow are the ones due in today."

But, to get back to basics, the Erie-Lackawanna is not bankrupt. Granted, it has operated at a loss ever since the merger on October 17, 1960. But it still has not reached the point where stock exchange rules call for the stock to be delisted—"kicked off," as you call it.

Anyway, we must consider the people who own Erie-Lackawanna stock. "Stuck with the stock" might be a better way to put it. If the stock were delisted, it would hurt its marketability.

Granted, the market situation of Erie-Lackawanna common stock has been a sad experience. It traded as high as $6.75 a share in 1960 and 1961 and as low as $2 a share in 1962. Lately, it's been up over $5, mostly on possibilities of another merger.

But this railroad has built up a reservoir of ill will among its riders that could hamper any major improvement in the price of its stock.

Remember that the Erie-Lackawanna's major passenger service (or lack thereof) is to downtown New York City's financial district. Commuters who are unhappy with the railroad are not likely to think well of its stock.

Q. The company for which I work gives employes the opportunity to buy company stock at 90 per cent of the market value on a certain date. The market price happened to be $55 a share. So we could buy it at $49.50 a share. We can buy it by having the money deducted from our paychecks over five years, or we can buy it in one lump sum.

Many of my fellow workers feel they cannot afford to do this. I say they cannot afford not to do it, because the market price of the stock rose to $65 a share in the period during which they could sign up for the plan. It seems to me that any employe could borrow the money to buy 100 shares at a cost of $4,950, sell immediately at $65 a share, repay the loan, and reap a quick profit. Will you comment on the ethics of my idea?

I agree with you. If the employ your company is as simple as you spell it out, your idea would seem to be an obvious one and a good one. Any employe who did not take advantage of it passed up a great opportunity.

Sometimes employes' stock-purchase plans are a good bit more complicated. But generally they are excellent things. Of course, the company's motive is to have employes as stockholders—part owners of the company. But there's nothing unethical about selling the stock.

Also, if you borrow money to buy the stock you run into certain technical rules. But your bank can explain the rules to you and keep you in the clear.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
(AP Business News Analyst)

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP) — Emotion or computors, What is sending the stock market averages up — hunches or cold calculations?

Sam Dawson

For two straight weeks all three of the Dow-Jones averages —30 industrials, 20 railroads, 15 utilites — have made new highs. This is the first time since 1929 that all three have set records in any one year.

Is it the economic outlook? Is it political excitement and predictions? And who is making this market — the average stockholder or the pros?

The professionals get most of the credit, but what makes them tick? Many think that calculation is the clue to the stock market behavior today even more than ever.

The tradition is that insiders with all the tips and prior knowledge coldly calculate how this or that stock or the market in general will react to any foreseeable set of events.

More recently the notion has grown that the big investors — a comparatively few well-heeled individuals, but even more the pension funds and other institutions — do the cold reasoning and buy or sell more or less in unison.

But veterans on Wall Street warn against this easy view of the market.

They point out that there are now estimated to be 17 million or more Americans holding stocks, each a potential buyer or seller. Most of them may belong to the oddlotters, the ones who trade in less than 100 shares at a time.

Pros tend to look down their noses at oddlotters as always wrong. Maybe they are, but they aren't without influence on stock price trends — such as the summer rally now intriguing the watchers of the stock market scene.

And pros are people, too. The institutional investors may seem impersonal, but individuals make the investing decisions. Right now is it emotion or calculation that determines?

Currently the force seems to be predominantly bullish.

Friday the market saw 635 shares advance and 432 decline. The popular averages were even more impressive.

The record high set Friday by the Dow-Jones industrials was 851.35, compared with a 1964 low of 766.08. The rails advanced to a record 220.98, an even more impressive advance from the 1964 low of 178.81. The industrials also fairly steadily climbing from the year's low of 137.30, reached a record 148.25.

The Friday climb of all three duplicated that of the week before when they also set new highs.

The general economy is booming, politics can influence individual traders, tradition calls for a summer rally in stock prices. All of these add up to cold calculation as to the course of stock prices.

But don't forget that other thing — the emotion which can work in short gusts as on the day President Kennedy was killed or in long cycles. In concentration it can be irrestible — and maybe right, maybe wrong.

Neutralist Troops Opening Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos, July 20 (UPI) — Neutralist troops striking to head off a threatened communist attack have captured the north side of strategic Phou Khautt hill, a military spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the three neutralist battalions under the command of Gen. Amkha Soukhavong are meeting stiff communist resistance on the southern side of the hill.

He said one battalion of communist Pathet Lao and Viet Minh troops from North Viet Nam is defending the southern slopes. The neutralists are trying to push them back across the Nam Ngum river, 12 miles to the south.

Serious Crime In Mountain Area Is up

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI) — Serious crime in the Mountain states registered a 9.2 per cent increase in volume in 1963 over 1962, according to the FBI's annual uniform crime reports.

Figures released today by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy showed a national increase for the period of 10 per cent.

The eight Mountain states reported 112,310 total offenses in 1963, compared with 102,836 in 1962. Increases were noted in auto theft, larceny over $50, burglary, aggravated assault and forcible rape. Fewer offenses were noted in robbery, murder and non-negligent manslaughter.

Utah reported 11,063 serious crimes for 1963, a rate of 1,125.4 per 100,000 population. In 1962 the figures were 10,074 offenses and a rate of 1,041.8.

In Idaho the total offenses rose from 5,585 to 5,618, while the rate per 100,000 population dropped from 800.2 to 787.4.

Montana noted an increase in both columns; the number jumping from 6,800 to 7,077, and the rate per 100,000 from 959.1 to 1,128.3.

Negro Flays Statements, Holds Back

BOSTON, July 20 (AP)—Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Negro and a Republican, says he will not support GOP presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater unless he disavows many statements.

Brooke said, however, that he would not leave the Republican party or campaign for President Johnson.

Brooke, who holds the highest elective office of any Negro in the nation, told newsmen last night he was particularly upset with Goldwater's declaration that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice." He said Goldwater's acceptance speech "came perilously close to a call to arms for both the radical left and right."

Brooke, who is seeking reelection, also said he finds "great fault" with the voting record of Rep. William Miller of New York, the GOP vice presidential candidate.

Goldwater's Campaign Is Planned

PHOENIX, July 20 (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, counting on an active campaign boost from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is setting his political counselors to work on battle plans for the race against President Johnson.

Tentative thinking on the Goldwater campaign shapes up this way:

—It is likely to be a series of forays for major addresses with bases in Washington and Phoenix.

—One old-fashioned whistle-top stint in in prospect, lasting perhaps a week and covering the interior valley of California.

—Goldwater forces are drafting plans for formation of a citizens committee which would seek to rally Democrats and independent voters to the Goldwater cause.

—In the month ahead, the traveling campaign will consist largely of what one top aide called " a few sorties for special purposes."

—Goldwater, as he did in the California primary campaign, will rely heavily on television to carry his message to the voters. The senator probably will begin recording television appearances early in August.

CALDWELL, July 20 (UPI)—Caldwell is being badgered by badgers.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK, July 20 (UPI) — Reynolds and company says "we are impressed with the way that the market has accepted the significant events which occurred at the Republican convention."

"This suggests," Reynolds writes, "that investors are more concerned with the favorable business climate now prevailing than with outside influences . . ." The brokerage house expects the market to "work higher as the year progresses."

Bache and company notes "with market leadership of the highest caliber and strong fundamentals in evidence, the market continues to perform well." Bache looks for "the present upward trend to be extended in the months ahead."

Van Alstyne, Noel and company, comments: "Certainly, at this point, there is no indication that the bull market is losing its impact. Rather it appears to be gaining as it moves along."

Idahoans Warned Of Fire Danger

BOISE, July 20 (UPI)—Boise national forest fire dispatchers cautioned motorists, fishermen and campers today to use extreme care to avoid fires while in forest areas.

"Apparently everyone is out in the hills," the dispatcher said, and warned that motorists would be stopped at checkpoints to show they are equipped with axe, shovel and bucket.

A four-acre fire near Tablerock was extinguished Sunday morning. It was the only fire reported by the Boise bureau of land mangement office.

"Vacation Playhouse," (6:30 p.m. CBS)—Eve Arden runs a travel agency into considerable trouble in this comedy, filmed in London.

"The Outer Limits," (6:30 p.m. ABC)—Macdonald Carey appears in tonight's episode, "The Special One." It concerns an agent from another planet who is scouting for genius children for special training.

"East Side, West Side," (8 p.m. CBS)—Tonight's drama, "If Your Grandmother Had Wheels," is about a paraplegic who thinks he has a cure for his affliction.

"Hollywood and the Stars," (8:30 p.m. NBC)—Westerns, a staple in the Hollywood diet of films, are the subject of tonight's program. Since 1903's "Great Train Robbery," nearly 20,000 sagebrushers have been cranked out. Prominent western stars are seen in a variety of films including "The Virginian," "Stagecoach," "Red River," and "High Noon."

"The Breaking Point," (9 p.m. ABC)—Bradford Dillman and Dianne Foster are featured in "Shadow of a Starless Night." Dillman portrays a young internist who loses his sight—and will to live—after an automobile accident.

"The Dick Powell Theater," (9 p.m. CBS)—Tom Ewell and Barbara Rush appear in "The Honorable Albert Higgins," a senator elected to congress from the little town of Horshoe Springs. He doesn't take the capitol by storm, at first, and he falls heir to the not-too-imposing task of entertaining the ambassador from the republic of Bandoria, who is a goatherd.

BEST MONDAY NIGHT MOVIES

"Sea of Grass," (1947)—Spencer Tracy, Katherine Hepburn and Robert Walker (10:30 p.m. KCPX)—The cast fights hard but this western about a man who sees New Mexico turning into a dust bowl and fights to save the grass is disappointing. It never stays with any of its many themes long enough to sustain interest and is certainly unworthy of the Tracy-Hepburn combo.

"His Majesty O'Keefe," (1954)—Burt Lancaster and Joan Rice (10:40 p.m. KID)—Action-packed pirate story about the derring-do of a brave adventurer. Fun for the younger set.

Election Year Battle Posed In Conference

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI)—The first muffled thunder of the coming election-year battles sounded during President Johnson's news conference at his Texas ranch.

The chief executive never mentioned his Republican opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater, by name, but he left no doubt to whom he referred, taking broad swipes at the Arizonan's positions on a number of issues.

And, while he was at it, Johnson attempted to refute the GOP charge of "fiscal irresponsibility" laid against his administration by passing along some good news on the economic front.

Johnson said federal spending was down and income was up for a budget improvement of 1.7 billion dollars in fiscal 1964. The federal payroll was chopped by 21,000 employes during the business year.

The chief executive challenged Goldwater's GOP convention statement approving extremism in the defense of liberty and opposing moderation in the pursuit of justice.

"I am not one who believes the end justifies the means," Johnson said.

Local Drivers Rank High at Lynwood Sports Car Event

Two local drivers placed among the winners in the gymkhana held Sunday at the Lynwood Shopping Center parking lot.

Pat Fleanor, driving a Triumph sports car, won the class "F" division as he ran the obstacle course on the parking lot in 3.17:8. His navigator was Robert Jones, Twin Falls.

In the local open class, Scott Campbell won with a 3.06 run. The club, which headquarters in Boise, threw the meet open to local drivers. Four local drivers participated.

The day's events actually got under way at Jackvot, Nev. The drivers held an economy run and rally at Jackpot on Saturday with some of the vehicles turning in mileage totals of more than 40 miles per gallon of gas.

The group left Jackpot at 10:30 a.m. Sunday to rally at the Lynwood lot. When they arrived, rally chairmen M. B. Williams and C. J. Gardener had set up the course.

A modified concourse was held prior to the start of the timed events. The concourse permitted car owners to clean up the vehicles for show and judging. The concourse event was also instituted to permit church services to conclude at the Lynwood chapel.

According to Williams the timed events would had disrupted services. Thus the car wash and inspection was added to the program.

The timed events consisted of a double run around a track laid out by Williams and Gardener. The course led off with a slalom run. Then came a figure eight with a 360-degree circle around a dpaylon after which the driver picked up his navigator to run the same course with gimmicks provided.

These included, carrying a dipper full of water from one end of the course to the other in the car and filling a small four-ounce bottle with water. Then the navigator would pick up a water pistol to douse a flame on a "tiki" torch while still in the vehicle.

The timed events, which lasted about two hours, provided bystanders and participants with several comedy situations. At times the crowd along the roped-off track numbered a couple of hundred.

Prior to the start of the races the public was allowed to view the cars.

Trophies for the local class participants were provided by the Lynwood Merchants association with many of the merchants participating in the judging, timing and officiating of the events.

UAR Says Jets Bag Israel Planes

CAIRO, July 20 (UPI)—The United Arab Republic said last night that its jet fighters shot down one and possibly two Israeli jets.

Neighboring Syria said its troops killed or wounded six Israelis in a border clash.

Israel denied both reports. Army spokesmen said the clash with Syria resulted in no casualties. The jet report, they said, was "ridiculous . . . no battle between Israeli and Egyptian planes has taken place, and no Israeli planes have been shot down or damaged."

"We would welcome a few adults," a spokesman says.

Cuba May Be Sanctions of Endangered

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI)—A proposed list of compromise sanctions against Communist Cuba appeared endangered today because of the political reservations of an increasing number of member nations in the Organization of American States (OAS).

Latin American diplomatic sources said on the eve of the OAS foreign ministers meeting here that at least three nations—Bolivia, Chile and Uruguay—have taken a stand alongside Mexico, which last week announced its opposition to any sanctions against Cuba.

At least two more nations—Argentina and Brazil—were reported wavering toward the Mexican position, which is in line with a traditional policy of non-intervention.

Since the sanctions need the approval of 13 of the 19 nations eligible to vote, there was no margin for additional opposition prior to the final decision-making session scheduled Thursday.

NICHOLS SETS RECORD FOR PGA CROWN

Win Based on Brilliant Recovery Shots; Palmer, Nicklaus Tie for Second

COLUMBUS, O., July 20 (AP)—Young Bobby Nichols continued to pull off recovery shots like a fairway Houdini Sunday and stood off a blazing surge by defender Jack Nicklaus to win the 46th PGA golf championship with a record score of 271. The baby-faced 28-year-old Louisville professional unconcernedly banging out of trouble to salvage his pars and rolling in putts from unbelievable distances,

* * * * * * * *

HAPPY-GO-LUCKY Bobby Nichols presents this wide grin after clinching the PGA championship at the Columbus Country club Sunday with a record score of 271. He fought off a spectacular closing round of 64 by Jack Nicklaus to win by three strokes. Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer tied for second. (AP wirephoto) closed with a three-under-par 67 in steamy heat and throat-grabbing pressure.

He led every round although he was chased by the most feared competitors in the game—first Arnold Palmer, later Mason Rudolph and finally Nicklaus.

The bull-shouldered, 24-year-old Nicklaus, playing before a home town gallery of 17,500, rallied from six shots back with a six-under-par 64 to tie Palmer for second place at 274.

Palmer shot a final 69 and Rudolph, the near-sighted Tennessean, took fourth money with a 69 for 276.

The best previous 72-hole total in this event was the 276 by Dow Finsterwald in capturing the first medal tournament after the changeover from match play in 1958.

Nicklaus' spectacular closing 64 over the 6,851-yard, par 70 Columbus Country club course matched the record 64 fashioned by Nichols in the opening round.

Nichols is a strapping 6-foot, 2-inch, 200-pound, all-round athlete who once won a football scholarship to Texas A and M. He started on the tour in 1960 and has won three tour tournaments.

Nicholas started his final round with a bogey when he three-putted the first hole from 65 feet. Palmer, who started the day one stroke behind, pulled even at this stage.

But Bobby snapped back with consecutive birdies at the second and third holes, lashing a ball from the rough over a tree to within a foot at the second and sinking a 15-foot putt at the third.

He appeared to be cracking when he bogied the seventh and eighth holes with poor iron shots, again falling back into a tie with Palmer and Rudolph at the 63-hole mark with Nicklaus coming strong three shots away.

Then he proved his mettle by bagging an eagle at the 10th—the 64th hole of the tournament—where he hit a booming drive laced a one-iron onto the green and then sank a putt of 35 feet.

This was really the clincher. The pursuers couldn't muster a challenger after that but Nichols intensified his drive by getting birdies at the 69th and 71st holes.

"I thought all week the last four holes would make the difference, and they did," Palmer said. "But it wasn't the way I thought. I figured it would be someone bogeying a hole, but the difference was in someone birdieing a couple of holes."

It was a four-man fight all the way although the amazing Ben Hogan, still the master at 51, made a stab at the front-runner when he went under par on the opening holes of his final round.

Walking laboriously on legs that were shattered in 1949 by a near fatal automobile accident, the grim-faced Texas Hawk closed with a gallant 73 for 283. The fans gave him a standing reception and Hogan tipped his familiar white cap in a gesture of appreciation.

Hogan finished in a tie with Tony Lema, the British open champion, who shot a final 71, Bill Casper, 72, and outsider Jon Gustin of Westfield, N. J., with an almost overlooked 66.

Ken Venturi, the new U. S. Open champion, fired a 69 for 270 and a tie for fifth place with Tom Nieporte of Locust Valley, N. Y., with a final 72. Bo Wininger, 41-year-old Las Vegas teaching pro, was even par at 280 after a par 70.

ORANGE, Calif., July 20 (AP)—Coach Harland Svare of the Los Angeles Rams says his men have gotten 'way ahead of themselves in conditioning for their annual Times charity game Aug. 7 against the Dallas Cowboys.

The Rams, in summer training here at Chapman College, have been on an off-season program of interval running—110 yards one day, 220 the next, and so on up—before the rigors of fall training.

13-Year-Old to Attempt Swim

DOVER, England, July 20 (AP) — A 13-year-old American girl, Leonora Modell, Sacramento, Calif., will attempt to swim the English channel next month, one of her trainers said Sunday.

Sam Rockett, who swam the channel in 1950, said Leonora is due to reach London Aug. 10 to start training in the channel. She now is training at home under Paul Herron of Sacramento, who has swum the channel in both directions.

Rockett said Miss Modell has swum 13 miles in Lake Tahoe, *Calif., where the water is 10 de*grees colder than the channel in summer.

The youngest successful channel swimmer so far is Claudia McPherson of Canada, who did it last year at the age of 17.

Ralston Upsets Net Favorite

RIVER FOREST, Ill., July 20 (AP) — Dennis Ralston, NCAA champion from Bakersfield, Calif., smashed top-ranked Chuck McKinley's bid for a third national clay courts title with a straight set 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, upset Sunday.

Southern California's Ralston squelched his Davis cup partner with ease to reverse the outcome of the 1963 clay courts finals.

Ralston bashed shots past McKinley throughout most of the match, which lasted only 46 minutes.

Fish, Game Meet Is Set For July 29

BOISE, July 20 — The next regular quarterly meeting of the Idaho fish and game commission is scheduled to begin July 29 at the Boise headquarters office of the department to review biennial budget matters.

Director John R. Woodworth added that a special meeting will be held in August to set hunting seasons for upland game birds. Information now is being gathered statewide to show the success of the spring hatch for the various species and brood survival during the summer months. Season lengths and bag limit will be based on this data.

The commission will hold public hearing from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m. July 29 for receiving evidence and opinions from anyone wanting to discuss fish and game matters.

Because of these and other matters of business which may properly come before the commission at this tim, a three day session is expected.

TRYING TO SNAG a grounder, Cleveland Indians' third baseman Woody Held misses a bad hop single hit by New York Yankee second baseman Bobby Richardson in the first game of a doubleheader at Yankee stadium Sunday. In this sequence of the third-inning incident, Held goes for the ball with extended glove (top left), ball hits the bag and changes direction (top right) and bounces in the opposite direction to Held (bottom left and right). The Yanks tipped the Tribe 6-2 in the first game but lost the second 3-0 to the hurling of rookie pitcher Luis Tiant, who made his first major league appearance. (AP wirephoto)

Tiant Blanks Yanks, Indians Gain Split

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Luis Tiant, making his first major league appearance, stopped New York on four hits, pitching Cleveland to a 3-0 victory over the Yankees and a split of their doubleheader Sunday. The Yankees won the opener 6-2 behind the pitching of Roland Sheldon. Tiant, a 23-year-old righthander brought up to the Indians just two days ago, allowed only a bunt single by Tom Tresh through the first five innings. The other Yankee hits also were singles.

Tiant struck out 11 and walked four as he outpitched Whitey Ford, who suffered his third setback against 12 victories.

The Indians gave Tiant all of the help he needed in the first inning, taking advantage of unusual wildness by Ford. The veteran southpaw walked three batters, the last forcing in a run.

Leon Wagner slammed his 23rd homer into the upper right field deck in the fifth. Ford left for a pinch hitter in New York's half of the inning.

Foyt Is Trenton 150-Mile Victor

TRENTON, N.J., July 20 (AP) — A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex., rode comfortably behind several rear engine cars for most of the race and then took the lead 22 miles from the end and won the Trenton 150-mile auto race Sunday at Trenton speedway.

Foyt won with the same front-engine Offenhauser roadster that he drove to victory this year in the Indianapolis 500 when mechanical troubles stopped most of the faster rear-engine cars.

Foyt took over from Jim McElreath on the 128th lap and set a track record for the 15-mile event of 105.500 miles per hour. His time was 1 hour, 25 minutes and 14:11 seconds.

Card Players Against Move To Atlanta

ST. LOUIS, July 20 (AP)—If the St. Louis Football Cardinals move to Atlanta, they will go without the blessing of some of their top players.

The move has been rumored for weeks and owners Charles (Stormy) and William Bidwill reportedly will announce their decision next week.

Most of the players questioned in an Associated Press survey said they would rather remain in St. Louis. But the majority emphasized the proposed move was a front office decision and they would go along with that decision.

"I'd rather stick it out here," said star quarterback Charlie Johnson. "I wouldn't like to move to Atlanta."

"Whether I go with the team if it moves depends a great deal on school," he said. "I'd have to push my studies to get my degree before 1965 the year of the proposed move, and even then I don't know if I'd go. I think I have a better opportunity in St. Louis to get the job I want after I get my degree."

Linebacker Bill Koman, starting his ninth year in the National Football league, said he definitely would not play in 1965 if the Cardinals move to Atlanta.

"St. Louis is my home now," said Koman, who originally is from Pennsylvania. "It's tough to relocate a family."

Star end Sonny Randle said he would "regret it very much if the team moved.

At least two of the Negro players, backs Bill Triplett of Cincinnati and Prentice Gautt of Oklahoma City had some doubts about the living conditions for Negroes in Atlanta.

"We'd just have to go there and see," Gautt said.

William Bidwell said such a move would be a business proposition, and the feelings of the players would not enter into their decision.

"There's a possibility of some retiring if we move," he said "But that won't make a great difference."

Chargers Ask Waivers on Vet

ESCONDIDO, Calif., July 20 (AP) — The San Diego Chargers of the American Football league asked waivers Sunday on Paul Maguire, veteran linebacker and punter.

Sid Gillman, head coach and general manager said that with five veteran linebackers expected to report to camp Monday Maguire is expendable. Maguire, 25, is from Youngstown, O. Gillman said he has been impressed also by three rookie linebackers, Kenny Dill, Ronnie Carpenter and John Case.

Gillman said quarterback Johnny Hadl will take over punting chores when San Diego meets Denver in the exhibition opener Aug. 8 in San Diego.

Cowboys Top Chiefs, Cop Second Spot; Team Will Name 1964 Queen Tonight

Magic Valley's Cowboys got superb long relief pitching from Tom Jones Sunday night as they roared from five runs past the Pocatello Chiefs 8-5 and into second place in the Pioneer league. Jones relieved starter Ron Franzman in the first inning when the Chiefs were picking up five runs. Greeted by John Buchanan's run-producing double, Jones quickly steadied and held the Chiefs to four hits while fanning 14. The victory gave the Cowboys a 2-0 edge in the four-game series, which continues with queen coronation night at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Jones, who three weeks ago was pitching no-hitters for a Phoenix, Ariz., Legion team, had to share the limelight with shortstop Bob Schroeder, who left after Sunday's game to join the San Francisco Giants' club in Lexington, N. C. Schroeder hit a two-run homer in his final game.

Pocatello loaded the bases in the opening minutes of the game when Mike Rice and John Allison singled and Larry Eckenrode walked. Greg Goosen's routine appearing double play ball turned into two runs instead on an overthrow at second base. Allison scored on a wild pitch before Rodger Blackwell singled to put runners at first and third. Goosen scored on a passed ball and then came Jones and Buchanan's double.

The Cowboys got one back in the first then tied it with four in the third. Mickey Takahashi walked and Jones lived on a error. After Joa had plated Takahashi with a long sacrifice fly, Mike Edwards singled to send Jones home. Schroeder then lashed his line drive homer.

The Cowboys got the final three runs of the game in the fourth and all were tainted.

Takahashi opened with a single and was sacrificed to second. Then Joa singled to right centerfield to set up a freak play. Both the center and rightfielder went after the ball and a throw was made too late to the plate to catch Takahashi. Joa, trying for second on the throw in, drew a throw from catcher Goosen. But the ball caromed off Joa's batting helmet as he slid into second and Joa practically walked in when the ball went almost to the centerfield wall.

Edwards then was hit by a pitch and came around on Pocatello's third error of the night.

Giants Sweep Twin Wins From Houston

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20 (AP)—Willie Mays' run-scoring single in the first inning gave San Francisco a 1-0 victory over Houston and a sweep of their doubleheader Sunday. The Giants won the opener 4-2 on Jim Hart's two-run homer following John Bateman's passed ball on a third strike. The victory ended the Giants' longest losing streak of the season at five.

Bob Hendley pitched a four-hitter but needed relief help in the ninth inning for his ninth victory in the nightcap. Despite a brilliant three-hit performance, Houston's Hal (Skinny) Brown suffered his ninth setback in 10 decisions.

Brown gave up two hits with one out in the first inning, then faced only the minimum 23 batters the rest of the way. He walked Del Crandall in the fifth and gave up a single to Mays in the seventh but both were retired on double plays.

Willie McCovey beat out a bunt single and took second on Bob Aspromonte's wild throw in the first, then came home on Mays' single to left-center field.

Sauer Paints Rosy Picture For Jim Hart

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20 (AP) — "This guy is a consistent .310 to .320 hitter if I ever saw one. He is going to make a lot of money in this game."

The subject of this rosy prediction is young Jim Ray Hart, rookie third baseman of the San Francisco Giants. The man gazing into Hart's future is Hank Sauer, former National league slugging outfielder, now a Giants' coach.

Hart came up to San Francisco with all the ballyhoo attending a 22-year-old who hit .403, .355, .337 and .312 in his first four years in professional baseball.

After a slow start he appears on the way toward fulfilling his advance notices.

A recent nine-game batting streak in which he hammered 18 hits in 38 trips has boosted the right-handed Hart's average over the .290 mark.

Manager Alvin Dark recently paid Hart the supreme compliment:

"He's been helping to carry us."

And after a series of early season miscues, Hart also appears to have resolved his fielding problems. He hasn't made an error since June 16.

During his early woes in the field, the rookie suffered when he was compared with Jim Davenport, the veteran third baseman he displaced. Davenport generally is acknowledged to be one of the better fielding third basemen and was a favorite of Giants fans.

Cookie Lavagetto, an ex-third baseman and another San Francisco coach, thinks as highly of Hart's fielding potential as Sauer does of his batting future.

"He's already a good one — and he's going to get better. No one works harder on his fielding than Jimmy," said Lavagetto.

Hart, a native of Lenoir, N.C., is not overwhelmed by his success to date.

"I figured I could get my share of base hits if I got to play regularly. I've had lots of good coaching—everybody helps me," he said.

North Clinches Olympic Berth

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 20 (AP) — Lowell North, San Diego, clinched his bid for an Olympic berth as the U.S. Dragon class skipper Sunday by winning the sixth race of the Olympic trials going away.

After getting away to a miserable start along with half a dozen others who were early at the line, North wriggled through the fleet to gain fourth place at the weather mark, picked off two competitors with an inside overlap at the leeward mark and overhauled Charles Kober of Long Beach at the end of the triangular lap.

On the windward-leeward lap, North hung his crew out to weather and bombed through the choppy seas to beat Kober by one minute and 38 seconds.

RETAINS CROWN

Renfro Fastest In Dallas Camp

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif., July 20 (AP)—Rookie Mel Renfro, a back from Oregon, showed the Dallas Cowboys the fastest time in the 40-yard sprint Sunday as the Cowboys continued their summer training.

Renfro clocked 4.5. His best time in the 50-yard sprint was 5.6, a shade slower than another Oregon man, Mike Gaechter, a defensive back and a 3-year veteran, who ran it in 5.5 Gaechter's 40 yards was 4.6.

Among the linemen the best 40-yard times were Chuck Howley's 4.8 and Leroy Jordan's 4.9. Both are linebackers.

GAME-DELAYING COLLISION knocks down Bob Aspromonte, Colt third baseman, in the eighth inning of the first game of Sunday's doubleheader with San Francisco at Candlestick park. Houston first baseman Dave Roberts, right in first picture, runs almost to the mound to take a high fly from the bat of Giants' Willie McCovey. Aspromonte had the same intention, ran across the mound and crashed into Roberts. The two photos at right show Aspromonte going down with enough of a jolt to delay the game for a couple of minutes. Roberts hung on to the ball for the out. (AP wirephoto)

Callison-Led Phillies Split With Redlegs

CINCINNATI, July 20 (AP) — Johnny Callison clouted a three-run homer in the ninth inning boosting Philadelphia to a 4-3 triumph over Cincinnati and a split of their doubleheader Sunday. The Reds won the opener 7-4.

The Reds led 3-1 going into the ninth. Clay Dalrymple led off with a single and Cookie Rojas walked after John Herrnstein struck out. Bill Henry replaced Ryne Duren, and Callison slammed his 15th homer into the right field bleachers duplicating his All-Star game feat.

Bolling Gives Braves Two Over Pirates

MILWAUKEE, July 20 (AP)—Frank Bolling drove in three runs in the first game and two in the second as the sizzling Milwaukee Braves surged into fourth place in the National league Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2 and 5-4.

The victories ran the Braves' streak to 10 victories in their last 13 games and 16 in their last 22.

After Tony Cloninger breezed home with a six-hitter in the opener, Hank Fischer, normally a starter rescued Denny Lemaster in the nightcap with four innings of scoreless relief.

MEXICO CITY, July 20 (AP) — Mexico clinched a place in the second round of the American zone Davis cup tennis eliminations Sunday when Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox beat Lew Gerrard and Ian Crookenden of New Zealand in doubles 7-5, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

It was the third straight victory for the Mexicans and assured them of a meeting with Australia here Aug. 1-3 in the American zone semifinals.

Baseball Is Main Element For Pay TV

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP)—Closed circuit pay television came into the parlors and patios of a selected four-square-mile section in west Los Angeles over the weekend drawing reactions that ranged from delight to disappointment.

But the viewers were impressed by one notable absence—commercials.

The main attraction was the week-end slate of baseball games between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs.

Dodger at-home baseball will form the basic sports interest from now until the end of the season, according to the producing company, Subscription Television, Inc., now identified as STV.

The company plans to open operations in San Francisco Aug. 11. The San Francisco Giants will be the sports attraction there.

The debut of the Dodgers on the closed circuit, particularly for those who own color sets, was an unqualified success.

"I'm absolutely dumbfounded. It's the most beautiful thing I've ever seen," said Jerry Mook, a Los Angeles physical therapist.

The Dodger game cost viewers $1.50, which is the price of a bleacher seat in Dodger stadium. The surfers could be seen for $1 and the Egyptians for 75 cents.

A typical gathering of family and in-laws watched the Dodgers at the home of William Finn, an oil company employe.

"You can't beat the price. My wife and I go to eight or 10 Dodger games a year and each time there is not much left out of a $10 bill after you pay for your seats, parking, hot dogs and maybe a beer or two, said Finn.

Softball Meet

All interested teams, registered with the Amateur Softball association, are requested to attend a meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Burley ball park to decide who will play who in the district fast pitch tournament beginning Aug. 3 and running through the week.

City recreation director, Chad Browning, says it is important for all team managers to be there for the drawing in order to decide the schedule for the double elimination tourney. Any team that is not registered with the ASA may register before the meet for eligibility.

Miss Jessen Wins Yankee Open Spot

GRAND BLANC, Mich., July 20 (AP)—Ruth Jessen, who suffered a heart-breaking loss last week to Mickey Wright in a playoff for the USGA women's open title at San Diego, Calif., came on strong Sunday with a four-under par 68 and won the $10,000 Ladies Professional Golf association Yankee open with a three-under par 213.

Three strokes behind the Bonsall, Calif., pro came Miss Wright, finishing with a two-over par 74 for 216.

In third place was Shirley Englehorn of Los Angeles at 220. She closed with a 75.

Miss Jessen took a bogey at No. 4 before getting hot and scoring three straight birdies at Nos. 6, 7 and 8. She chipped in from 60 feet, tapped in a one-footer, and concluded the string with a 25-foot putt.

On the back side Miss Jessen dropped 7 and 20-foot putts for birdies at No. 13 and No. 14 and just missed on No. 18 when a 25-footer hit the cup but bounced past.

A hot putter was Miss Jessen's most deadly weapon as she needed only 27 strokes on the green and had eight one putt holes. She hit 13 of the 18 greens in regulation.

Miss Jessen became the first lady pro besides Miss Wright to win more than one tournament this year. Her first victory came at Beaumont, Tex. Her $1,500 first place check moved her into second place on the money list with $10,000.

Clark Takes Prize Solitude

STUTTGART, Germany, July 20 (AP) — World champion driver Jim Clark, Scotland, splashed to victory Sunday in the Grand Prize of the Solitude for Formula One racing cars.

Clark, driving his Lotus cautiously on the slippery track, made an average speed of 91.466 miles per hour for 20 laps on the 7.09-mile Solitude circuit — a total of 141.86 miles. He won by 10.4 seconds from John Surtees of England, driving an Italian Ferrari. All the other finishers were lapped at least once.

Shortly after the start, five cars were involved in a mass collision and were forced out of the race. Later British drivers Graham Hill and Innes Ireland skidded off the track and abandoned the race. None of the drivers was hurt.

Runoff for Colorado Is Above Guess

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI) — unoff in the upper Colorado ver watershed has been better an forecast.

As a result, Secretary of the terior Stewart L. Udall announced today water is assured r initiation of power generation by late August at Glen Canyon dam.

Udall's announcement was ade here, although he was in olorado today for ground- eaking ceremonies for the Rue- dam. He said in May that he ould make a final decision in d-July whether storage would continued this year at Glen anyon, in Northern Arizona.

Power revenues from the Glen anyon plant are to be a major urce of repayment funds for e upper Colorado river storage roject.

Last March, Udall ordered the tes opened at Glen Canyon so to maintain rated power production at downstream Hoover am, an action which would have eant a postponement of generation at Glen Canyon, had orage not been resumed.

But, on May 11, Udall, announced he was taking a cal- ulated risk that enough water uld be stored at Glen Canyon r generation to begin this year ithout any resulting reduction eantime in power production at oover being made up by pur- hase of replacement power.

The March runoff forecast had en for only 4.7 million acre-feet om April 1 through July; but e outlook improved, and both e May 1 and June 1 forecasts ere for runoff of 5.1 million cre-feet and this amount has en obtained already.

Udall said that, as of July 14, e contents of Lake Powell, ormed by Glen Canyon dam, ad reached 5,604.00 acre-feet, nd that the minimum power perating pool of 6.1 million acre- et is expected to be obtained y about Aug. 20, considerably arlier than previously figured.

Bills on Coal, Phosphate Moving Soon

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UPI) — Bills designed to develop western coal and phosphate resources are expected to move in congress next week.

A senate interior mining subcommitte plans to consider July 27 measures to increase the maximum size of coal and phosphate leases on federal lands in a single state.

The house interior committee also may take action on measures to remove roadblocks restricting the tapping of vast deposits of the two minerals in the Rocky Mountain area.

One bill would double the present 10,240-acre maximum for phosphate leases. The other would increase to 46,080 acres the present limitation of 10,240 acres for coal leases.

The committees have been told that present lease limitations are preventing the mining of coal and phosphate needed for the manufacture of fertilizer and chemicals.

"While the western states contain approximately 74 per cent of the known reserves of phosphate deposits," Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall has testified, "72 per cent of the phosphate produced comes from Florida."

An estimated 6.5 billion tons of phosphate reserves lie in Idaho, Montana, Utah and Wyoming. They are found in formations covering an area of 235,000 square miles, or 8,640,000 acres.

Advocates say the coal bill is needed to spur mining of the fuel for steam generating power plants.

By 1970-80, the committees were told, large quantities of steam-generated power will be needed in the West, particularly in California.

Demo Meet May Have Fireworks

NEW YORK, July 20 (UPI) — If he New York Democrats have heir way, the atmosphere at ext month's national conven- ion in Atlantic City will not be ll sweetness and light.

The intra-party feuding among he Democrats—who tradition- ally never shy away from a good ight—probably won't create the riction evident at last week's Republican pow-wow, but there re bound to be a few fireworks.

The Democratic battle, if there s one, would be ignited by the vowed attempt of New York Democrats to prevent the seating of the Mississippi state delegation at the convention.
